The Society was formed in 1958 in response to the demolition of historic Bell'vue for construction of Blues Point Tower. The major goals of the Society are to promote understanding of the history of North Sydney, and to advocate for the preservation of important elements in the heritage of the North Sydney LGA. The Society currently comprises more than 100 members committed to the maintenance and enjoyment of North Sydney's heritage. The Society has cooperated with Council over a period of 60 years, and, during this time, a number of prominent North Sydney Councillors have served as members of the Society's Committee. The Society has worked closely with Council for, and contributed financially to, the acquisition and initial furnishing of Don Bank Cottage, as well as to the provision of historical plaques within the local area. This advisory committee was dissolved, removing a useful mechanism for community consultation and feedback. More recently, Council has made significant changes to the operational hours of Stanton Library without any opportunity for community input. The library closed during the COVID lockdown, reopened at first with reduced hours (understandable), but, on return to full operation, simply cut back its evening opening hours. This appears to have been a cost-cutting measure, and was introduced without community consultation or discussion. Such change has inconvenienced not only the Society (which has had to change its meeting times), but also the many students using the library as an evening study centre, and workers who cannot get to the library during daytime hours. Yet the community appears to have had no advanced notification or explanation of this change, nor any provision for input to the decision that was made.</li> <li>We would hope that opportunities for more meaningful formal community consultation will be implemented as part of the new strategy.</li> <li>The Society commends Council for its commitment to the heritage of the North Sydney area through employment of a Council Historian, support for the operation of the North Sydney Heritage Centre, and the continued maintenance of historic Don Bank and Sexton's Cottage. # LIBRARY AND HISTORICAL SERVICES STRATEGY 2022-2027

Council Meeting - 30 January 2023 Agenda

RECOGNITION OF THE CAMMERAYGAL PEOPLES

We respectfully acknowledge the Traditional Custodians of the land and waters of North Sydney local government area, the Cammeraygal People.

We acknowledge First Nations people living and working in our local area, and commit to bringing an awareness of this community and their history to all decision making and planning.

The staff are very helpful, the resources are very accessible, and it's a happy place to be.

North Sydney Council's Library Service operates out of the iconic Stanton Library building on Miller Street, North Sydney, originally opened in 1964. On the edge of the North Sydney CBD, Stanton is well served by buses, with rail transport within walking distance.

The last major upgrade to the library building was completed in 2005 with the addition of level two and substantial internal refurbishment. A Masterplan for the library building, including opportunities for expansion, was developed in 2015. With the guidance of the Masterplan, Council has since made incremental improvements to the library's internal spaces.

The North Sydney Heritage Centre, co-located within Stanton Library, is designed as a research and exhibition space, available to the public during library opening hours. A museum quality exhibition space wraps around the research area, providing a means to showcase Council's unique and valuable collection of artworks, objects, maps and photographs. A significant collection of historic items and artefacts are stored within a purpose built facility at Council's Ernest St depot.

Library and Historical Services staff are responsible for the maintenance and management of two historic properties, now operating as Museums. Don Bank Museum is a 19th century timber slab cottage, and the only one of its type open to the public in the inner city. St Thomas Rest Park, the earliest European cemetery on the North Shore is now deconsecrated ground and managed as an historic site, with significant headstones and monuments, as well as a preserved laying out room known as the Sexton's Cottage.

Stanton Library is part of the Shorelink Library Network, which connects Library Services for Lane Cove, Mosman and North Sydney Councils.

I think Stanton Library is the most significant cultural institution provided by North Sydney Council. I would be lost without it.

BACKGROUND

Consultation and community engagement, using a range of methods and platforms, is used to guide all library planning and inform service delivery at every level.

This strategy draws on formal and informal consultation with the community and stakeholders held between 2020-2022:

- 2020 My Stanton customer engagement project
- 2021 Community Strategic Plan consultations
- 2021 Library staff consultation sessions

Council Meeting - 30 January 2023 Agenda

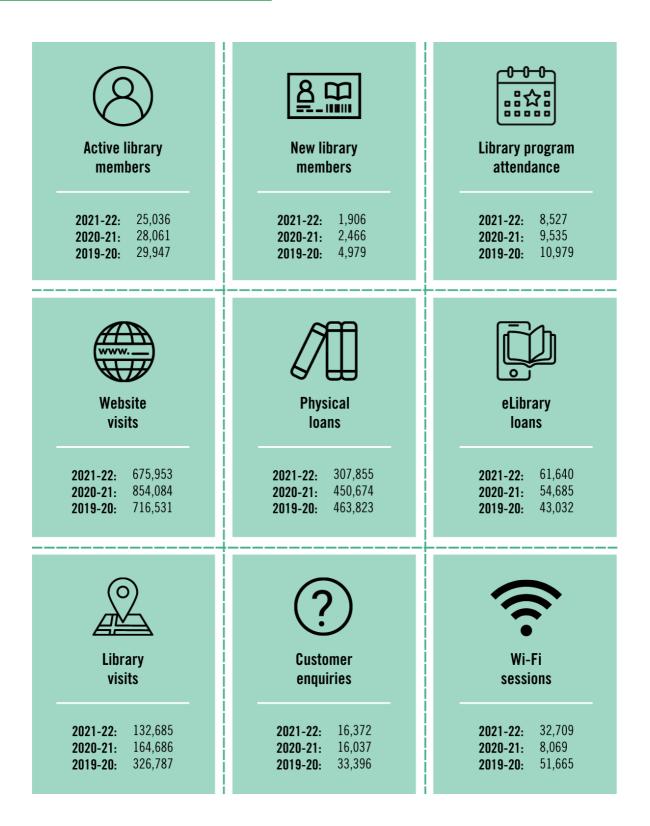

I consider the library to be a home away from home.

Council Meeting - 30 January 2023 Agenua

There is a reason that the Stanton Library is held in such high regard by our community with its reach extending beyond our LGA. Council must continue to invest in the community asset, keeping it relevant and as a hub contributing to the heartbeat of our community.

KEY LIBRARY FIGURES

Note: Figures since 2020 reflect impact of COVID-19 lockdowns, library closures and visitor restrictions.

TRENDS

Our consultation tells us that overall, customers are very happy with the existing service provided by Stanton Library, in particular the collections available, the library staff and the programs and activities offered.

Users of the library appreciate the depth, breadth, currency and range of library resources, actively seeking out staff recommendations and reading suggestions curated by theme or topic. The physical items in the library and the act of browsing the shelves add to the sense of discovery and atmosphere when using the library.

Our community see the library as a welcoming and friendly place, and interactions with staff contribute significantly to their positive experience of visiting.

Many users commented that while the quality and range of programs offered is excellent, they are often difficult to book into or not offered at suitable times. Demand for children's activities of all kinds for ages 0-12 remains high, and sessions offered are quickly booked out.

Identified areas for improvement were the provision of spaces for reading, study, work and meetings, expansion of print and digital collections and improvements to accessing online services and platforms.

In the wake of COVID pandemic closures, lockdowns and long periods of restrictions, visits to the library and loans of physical items has been slow to return. Visits and loans are close to 50% of pre-COVID levels. Demand for digital services, especially eBooks, eAudio and online self-service functionality has noticeably increased.

Better awareness and promotion of the library's services and resources was noted as a significant factor in encouraging users to visit the library more frequently.

12 Library and Historical Services Strategy 2022 - 2027

Attachment 10,11,2

Not having access to the library through lockdown, this year and last, was extremely difficult. I missed this service as much or more than any other restriction.

At 39%, our resident library membership is lower than the expected benchmark, and survey feedback indicates that there are large sections of the community who are unaware of the library, the services available and the programs offered.

Customers also indicated that greater flexibility and more options for how and where they access the library, as well as convenience and ease of access in their own neighbourhood would contribute to their ability to use the library.

I am so proud of Stanton Library as a public and community resource.
